Driving Time: From Lincoln Hills to the Cottages At Point Reyes is about 130 miles and a two and a half hour drive.

Parking: Plenty of parking for large groups.

Swimming Pool & Spa: The pool is not heated. The fenced in area of the pool and spa is off limits for food and drink.

Places for group gathering: Picnic tables are located on large open lawn areas or there are the individual cottage patios where small groups can gather.

What To Bring: Baggies for packing lunches, food and drink, sharp knife, flash light, hand and shower soap and toiletries, napkins and hiking gear and layered clothes and jackets and rain gear.

Wildlife Viewing: According to the ranger I spoke to, in the last week of April we could possibly see gray whales and elephant seals, as well as sea lions, harbor seals and tule elk and a variety of land and sea birds and hopefully wildflowers.

Hikes and Activities: There are a variety of hiking trails, from less than one hour hikes to one to three hour hikes to three to six hour hikes. We will prepare a list of hikes from all three categories and send out the hiking information as the date gets closer.

Weather: Point Reyes is considered the windiest place on the Pacific Coast and the second foggiest place on the North American continent. Fog is very common during the summer months (July-early September), and winds over 40 mph are not uncommon in spring (April-June) and in winter storms (Dec-Feb).
